Court Ruling Against Army in L. R. Case

By LLOYD HOLBECK
United Press Staff Correspondent
LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that Pulaski Circuit court cannot try a man on a charge of defying a United States Army officer during the Central High School crisis.

Associate Justice Sam Robinson wrote the majority opinion. Associate Justices Ed F. McFaddin and J. S. Holt concurred in one dissenting opinion, and Chief Justice Carlton Harris wrote a separate dissenting opinion.

Robinson's opinion said there was no state law making it a criminal offense for a person to refuse to obey orders of a United States Army officer. The case involved Vernon Duncan, who was arrested last Oct. 3 at Central High school on a charge of disturbing the peace. He was acquitted in Little Rock municipal court on the charge, but was convicted on another charge of refusing to obey the order of an Army officer.

The opinion listed two legal questions:

— Does the charge that Duncan refused to obey an order of an Army officer constitute an offense punishable in the courts of this state?

— If not, is prohibition a proper remedy?

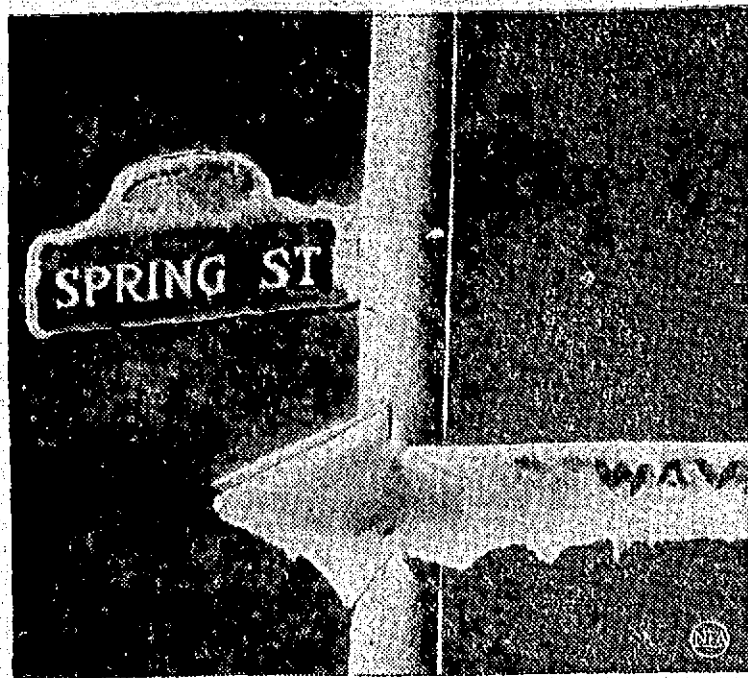

"If it is a crime in this state to fail to obey an order of the United States Army, then the charge must be based on some statute making such conduct a criminal offense," the opinion said.

"There is no statute to that effect," the majority opinion added.

In their dissenting opinion, Justices McFaddin and Holt said a writ of prohibition should not be issued since an appeal would be adequate.

In his dissenting opinion, Chief Justice Harris said:

Counter Proposals on Tunisia Crisis

TUNIS (UP) — U.S. and British negotiators Robert Murphy and Harold Beeley return to Paris today with Tunisian counter-proposals for settling the five week old crisis with France.

Both trouble-shooters preserved strict silence on Tunisia's reply to French compromise suggestions they brought here from Paris six days ago. But informed sources indicated that Tunisia has modified its original demands.

50-Pound Rocket Also Into Orbit

WASHINGTON (UP) — A top government scientist disclosed today that the Navy's Vanguard rocket has put two objects in orbit—the 3¼-pound baby moon and the third stage rocket weighing about 50 pounds.

"I want to emphasize that we put two objects into orbit with a total weight in excess of 50 pounds," Dr. John P. Hagen, chief of the Vanguard project, told reporters.

Hagen also announced that the Navy will "try very soon" to put into orbit the regular 2½ inch scientific satellite, which originally was scheduled for launching by March 1.

Hagen said that Vanguard I, which went into orbit this morning, will circle the earth "for a great many years—certainly five or 10 years." He said it is circling the earth at a speed of 18,000 to 19,000 miles an hour and is taking about 135 minutes to complete each trip around the earth.

The third stage rocket which also is in orbit is about 4 feet long and about 18 to 20 inches in diameter. It is a tube with a cone tip. The baby moon is spherical and only 6.4 inches in diameter.

In its orbit around the earth, Vanguard I reaches a maximum height of 2,500 miles and comes as close as 400 miles above the earth, according to very rough preliminary calculation.

If this proves to be approximately its orbit, Hagen said, "it will be a very long-lived satellite."

This compares with a maximum altitude of 1,575 and minimum of 227 miles for the Army's Explorer I.

Hagen said both miniature radio transmitters in Vanguard I are "operating successfully."

One is operating on 108.00 megacycles. The other sending signals on 108.03 megacycles.

Hagen said the satellite will transmit radio signals "for a long, long while" because one of the transmitters works on solar batteries which use the sun's light for their power.

Girls Scouts
Plan Annual
Day Camp

The annual Girl Scout Day camp will be held June 2 through June 6, it was announced today by Mrs. Henry W. Seaman, chairman.

There will be 12 troops enrolled with about 130 Brownies and Intermediate Scouts participating. Some 20 leaders will be actively engaged in the camp and some four adult workers will help troop leaders, Mrs. Seaman said. "The group is planning the camp program at the present time which will include:

1. To stimulate real enjoyment of out-of-doors;
2. To provide training in citizenship through community living with each girl taking a part in planning and carrying out the camp program;
3. To contribute to the physical, mental and spiritual well-being of every Girl Scout.

The camp is made possible from the sale of Girl Scout Cookies, the only money raising project undertaken by the girls each year. Part of the money is to be used to redecorate the Little House at Fair park.

State AEA to Campaign for Sales Tax

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The Arkansas Education Association plans a campaign to support the 1957 sales tax increase passed by legislature, according to AEA executive secretary Forrest Rozzell.

Rozzell said the teachers would support the increase based on the assumption the legislature passed the raise because of a demonstrated need.

"If we let the people know of the significance of the tax to continued improvement of education in Arkansas they will support it," Rozzell predicted.

The tax increase will be put in effect on July 1.

Mrs. Ike's Kin Denies Any Part in TV Mess

WASHINGTON (UP) — Col. Gordon Moore, Mrs. Eisenhower's brother-in-law, swore today that he "in no way, directly or indirectly, influenced or sought to influence" the FCC's controversial award of a Miami, Fla., television channel.

Moore appeared voluntarily before a House Commerce subcommittee investigating alleged misconduct in federal regulatory agencies to deny under oath that he engaged in any wrongdoing.

He denied categorically that he ever discussed any matter with any FCC member.

"Furthermore," he said, "I have never discussed any matter with any member of the Federal Communications Commission at any time."

Moore told the subcommittee he voluntarily would produce files and records available to its investigators.

"I trust that the members of this committee," he said, "are now aware that I have had no connection whatever, directly or indirectly, with Channel 10."

Moore, husband of Mrs. Eisenhower's sister, has been accused of "engineering" the FCC's award of the multi-million-dollar Miami TV channel to a subsidiary of the National Airlines. Bernard Schwartz, the subcommittee's ousted counsel, made the statement before he was dropped from the committee payroll over his charge that some of its members were trying to "whitewash" the investigation.

HD Council Holds Meet at McCaskill

John Wilson, local attorney, spoke on Freedom of America in the Sputnik Age at the spring meeting of the Hempstead County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs held in McCaskill Community Center March 14.

Mr. Wilson pointed out that our freedom was disappearing by the gradual encroachment of the government into our businesses and that the majority is unable to rule anymore as witnessed in the Little Rock situation.

Mr. Wilson further stated that it was never intended that the federal government should control the state but should serve the states and knit them closer together. He suggested that this unfortunate situation be changed by the ballot; that the citizens buy a poll tax and exercise their right to vote.

Sgt. Bill Files, Safety Division, Arkansas State Police, Little Rock, gave an interesting and informative talk on highway safety. Sgt. Files stated that 8% of highway accidents were caused by holes in the road; 20% to defects in car; and 55% to human elements.

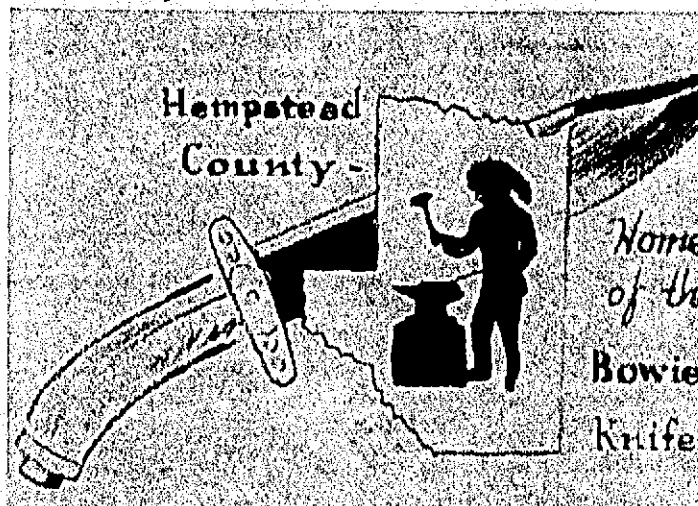

County Judge U. C. Garrett explained the tax equalization law and how the schools would benefit from the law.

Feeder Calf Sale Here to Be Discussed

The establishment of a feeder calf sale at Hope for this fall will receive consideration Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the Hempstead County Courtroom. All beef cattlemen producing feeder calves are invited to be present.

New American 'Moon' Launched Into Outer Space by Navy Team

Here's How New Masthead of Hope Star Will Look

This is the final rough sketch for the new centerpiece which will go into Hope Star's masthead (name-plate) in the next couple of weeks. The third and final sketch prepared by the newspaper's feature syndicate, NEA Service, Inc., Cleveland, Ohio, it was returned to them with final O. K. last Thursday and the actual drawing and set of stainless steel printing plates will be completed soon.

A new centerpiece in the newspaper's name-plate was required because the present design of state map, state shield, and the word "On the Broadway of America" is obsolete — the new military highway system having eliminated the old "Broadway" figure of speech.

In searching for a new design which would be both historical and local A. J. Washburn, editor and publisher, chose the Bowie Knife, which was hammered out by James Black in his frontier blacksmith shop to the specifications of James Bowie more than 100 years ago — at the old county-seat town of Washington.

Washburn photographed the old knife now in the collection of B. W. Edwards; Mrs. Margie Harrie, artist of Shipley Studio, sketched the figure hammering on an anvil (Washburn added the compass cap idea with a letter to the Cleveland artist) — and then the editor photographed Cleveland's final sketch before releasing same for production.

Vanguard Puts Moon, Part of Rocket in Orbit

By CHARLES TAYLOR
United Press Staff Correspondent

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP) — The Navy triumphantly hurled a new American satellite into space today in the form of a Vanguard, which overcame past failures in the bursting flame of its spectacular launching.

President Eisenhower made the victorious announcement that the United States had put a new baby moon into orbit around the earth. It will be called Vanguard I.

Dr. John P. Hagen, director of the Vanguard project, disclosed that the tiny satellite, which he said would circle the earth for "certainly five or 10 years," plus the third stage of the Vanguard rocket were hurled into orbit this morning.

Hagen also announced the Navy will try "very soon" to put a fully-instrumented 2½ inch satellite into orbit.

The ascent of the Vanguard must have chilled the men in the blockhouse with awe.

Beaches Almost Bare
As the voice of the test conductor flicked off the final seconds before firing and reached "zero," nothing happened for a few more seconds. The rocket built up its power, then rose slowly from the power, then rose slowly from the power, then rose slowly from the power.

The 11 tons sped with gathering speed up the sky, silhouetted for one dazzling instant against the red ball of the rising sun.

It was reminiscent of some strange, wingless bird, striking out into the sky with sure power and determination, long-necked and graceful, the Vanguard left almost bare beaches behind it.

Perhaps the usual birdwatching enthusiasts were skeptical by now that the Vanguard would fly at all. But they shouldn't have missed this show.

The Vanguard was visible for well over two minutes, and the separation of its first stage could be seen through a telescope. When the first stage engine burned out, there was a moment of apprehension. The second stage had never been tested in flight before.

But like the perfect piece of complex scientific instrumentation it is, the second stage ignited on instant after the first fell away, sending the rocket hurtling farther along the road to space.

After one "crushing" disappointment, another, the Vanguard, penultimate thing of all very recently cast off the mantle of frustration and with a roar of triumph hurtled straight up into the Florida skies.

Some two hours and 30 minutes after the 7:10 a.m. (c.s.t.) launching, the official announcement was made from Washington that the Navy had accomplished what it dared not hope for—the orbiting of a new moon in the skies.

A Wild Celebration
The announcement freed anxious watchers at Cape Canaveral of long weeks of tension—tension that had built up through two actual Vanguard launching failures and a third "scrubbing."

The news touched off a wild demonstration in the blockhouse yard by the Vanguard launching platform.

The President used just two short sentences to make known to the free world the results of the mighty sweat and toil that went in today's launching.

Vanguard I joined Explorer I, fired by an Army Jupiter-C missile, and Russia's Sputnik II in space.

The President said he had just been informed "that a small vehicle has been placed in orbit around the earth by the Vanguard rocket."

Will Stand by Wife Who Killed Baby

NASH, Okla. (UP)—Terrence D. Hill, husband of an American woman who smothered and buried her baby and then reported it kidnapped said Sunday night his wife "comes first" and he does not blame her.

Hill, 28, Plymouth, Mich., apologized to the Oklahawans through newsmen for causing "inconveniences" in the false kidnap report which touched off a three day search.

The boy, six week old Brady Dean Hill, was found buried in the vegetable garden behind the Hill home. The mother, Mudecyn, 26, confessed she smothered the baby. Doctors caring for her said she was suffering from a "psychosis."

"Ever since the baby was born, she hasn't been quite herself," said Hill, who had no previous knowledge that the mother had killed her son. He is a civilian technician working for the U.S. Air Force.

"There were times when I believed she didn't recognize me," he said. "I don't blame my wife a bit. I realize we don't have a boy any more but right now my wife comes first."

Investigators said the baby died about 7 p.m. Wednesday. Mrs. Hill reported it kidnapped between 7:30 and 8 p.m. A screen had been ripped from the bedroom window.

Hill said his wife made the surprise confession at home after attending a neighbor's 25th wedding anniversary, where they had gone in an attempt to relax from the strain.

During the search, the most intensive in this island's history, Hill made a television and radio appeal to the kidnaper of his child to bring him back.

Folies Bergere Is Back in Business

PARIS (UP)—The Folies Bergere returns in all its undrugged glory Friday night, ending the depressing (for Frenchmen and tourists) reports the biggest girlie show of them all had gone for good.

The Folies were closed on Jan. 4 and the performers put their clothes back on. Reports swept Paris that that was the end—that rising production costs had finished them for good.

"CORCORAN CASTING BUREAU" — That's what Hollywood calls the seven children of Kathleen and Bill Corcoran, of Sherman Oaks, Calif. All seven are working actors and actresses in movies and television. Whatever the role, they've got a "type" to fill it. To date, they've been in 62 films and 160 TV shows. The Clan Corcoran: Bill, 18; Donna, 16; Noreen, 14; Hugh, 10; Kevin, 8; Brian, 6, and Kerry, 5.

WALTER WINCES—Walter Brennan, Almond's 64-year-old veteran character actor, is winning over the unkind barbs of a TV critic. For the first time in 35 years of acting, Brennan was described as corny and an acting triflester in TV's "The Real McCoys," wherein, as seen above, he plays "Grandpa" always trying to outwit Kathy Nolan, who plays his daughter-in-law.

BRIEF ENCOUNTER—Bikinis are now outmoded in Hollywood's cheesecake department by the short nightgown, worn by glamor gals in several upcoming films. Typical is this Shirley Jones wears while singing "I Haven't Got a Thing to Wear" in the new musical satire, "Never Steal Anything Small."

Johnson Sees Provisions for 2 Million Jobs

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Democrat Leader Lyndon B. Johnson estimated today that anti-recession legislation moving through Congress could provide two million jobs. That is almost 40 per cent of the 5,173,000 unemployed in February.

"I have a great deal more confidence in the economic outlook now simply because the wheels have been set in motion and the government is actively at work to combat unemployment," Johnson told reporters.

Johnson's statement was one of the most optimistic by a Democrat since the current recession began. It came amid these other developments on the economic front:

—The Federal Reserve Board was expected to report today that industry output showed another drop in February.

—Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson expressed new confidence in the "fundamental" strength of the economy. Citing "encouraging" factors in January and February, he said "now is the time for the wise businessman" to hire the salesmen, build the factories and do the research needed "for the expanding America of the future."

—Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.), an administration backer, said he is preparing a standby bill to cut withholding taxes in half for the last half of this year if Congress decides on a tax cut. Carlson, a member of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee estimated this cut to amount to about six billion dollars.

—Republican National Chairman Meade ALCORN, in a speech prepared for a conference of GOP women here, renewed his attack on Democrats as the "party of panics" but said the Republican administration is taking "concrete steps" to halt the recession.

Authorities said the boy had a delinquency record and had been visiting a psychiatrist once a week. Youth officer Charles Edscheid withheld the identities of the brothers because they are juveniles.

The boy and his nine year old brother were taken to the juvenile home pending an appearance in family court.

Man Held in a Fatal Shooting

BENTONVILLE (UP)—The Benton County Sheriff's office was holding Norman (Doc) Foust about 50, today on open charges pending results of an investigation into the fatal shooting of George A. Menger, 52, this weekend.

Sheriff Joe Means said Menger, a farmer, was shot five times in the back and died instantly. P. A. Graham, a Rogers implement dealer, was wounded in the shoulder.

Means said Graham admitted Locke, a furniture dealer delivered some merchandise to Menger Saturday and were leaving with Menger when their truck stuck in a mud hole. Graham, Menger, and a neighbor, Arlin Aldredge, were pushing the truck when Menger was killed and Graham wounded.

Foust worked for Menger as a caretaker, but had been told last week he was being dismissed, Sheriff Means said.

Junior-Senior High School
P.T.A. Hear Guest Speakers From Prescott

The Junior-Senior High School P.T.A. met Thursday March 13, with the meeting being opened by the President, Mrs. Duffie Booth who led the group in the Lord's Prayer.

The minutes of the last meeting was read and approved. During the business session, a financial report was made on proceeds from Talent night. Mrs. Booth expressed her appreciation to the various committee members who work helped to make the Founders Day Program and Tea a success.

Mrs. Sam Strong, had charge of the program and presented Susan Davis who sang a Japanese song. Miss Davis was charming in her authentic Japanese attire. Linda Gilbert was the accompanist.

Mrs. Jess Hays and Mrs. H. H. McKenzie of Prescott were the guest speakers. In a most interesting manner, Mrs. Hays told how the all night Junior-Senior Festival of Prescott developed and how it is organized. Mrs. McKenzie gave the details on how the festival will be carried out this Spring. After these talks a buzz session followed in which Mrs. Hays answered questions.

The meeting was adjourned by the president.

Outlook on News Now in Headlines

News Outlook
By UNITED PRESS

United Press correspondents around the world look ahead to the news that will make headlines.

Greenbacks ... All praise to St. Patrick, but it's the long green the Emerald Isle needs most. In coming months there will be a stepped-up campaign to import it via Irish exports and offers to foreign capital and investments. Even the St. Patrick's Day parade in Dublin is emphasizing industrial products. "Buy Irish" will be the watchword. You'll be hearing a lot of it.

Air Fight ... The Civil Aeronautics Board is in for a bruising fight with the Airline Pilots Assn. over the recent CAB report blaming the pilots for an airliner crash at New York last year. The association is preparing a strong counter-attack which will accuse the agency of ignoring evidence of instrument use to make the pilot a scapegoat.

Summit Talk ... There is talk that John Foster Dulles touched off the latest propaganda outburst with an off-hand remark to new Soviet Ambassador Joseph Menshikov, when Dulles mentioned casually that an American reply to a Soviet note should be ready within a very few days. In no time at all, Menshikov was back with another letter from the Kremlin. The high level guess is the Soviets hoped to bury any propaganda impact from the American letter with a fresh one of their own. The State Department immediately published the U.S. note in an apparent attempt to steal the play from the Kremlin's countermove.

Red Brito's ... Watch for a rare political sortie by the Communists in Britain. A by-election is coming up in Lancashire's industrial area of Wigan, a Laborite stronghold. Word is the Communists will test the politicians here with a candidate of their own.

At the Post ... Keep an eye on Silky Sullivan, the Kentucky Derby favorite, as a box office attraction as well as a racer. If he goes by the post at the Derby May, he may justify the old Churchill Downs claim that the race draws 100,000 attendance or better.

Observers have doubted those figures. But Silky Sullivan may draw them in with his performance.

Court Ruling

Justice Harris said thremedy by appeal is "certainly adequate" in this case.

Hot Springs Case ... He cited an earlier case concerning a mayor of Hot Springs under indictment for non-feasance in office. In the opinion, the court said the writ of prohibition is never granted unless a lower court exceeds its authority and the party applying for its has no other protection.

"We do not reach the point of whether the President acted beyond the scope of his authority in ordering troops into Arkansas to enforce the court decree," the opinion said. "This would perhaps involve construction of the Constitution of the United States and it is firmly established that constitutional questions will not be determined unless their determination is essential to a disposition of the case."

A radio signal believed "almost positively" to come from the 10-day's beeping grapefruit-sized moon was picked up by Press Wireless receivers at Baldwin, N.Y., within five minutes of the firing.

Things seemed to go smoothly for launchers at the Cape Canaveral missile testing center today in contrast to the despairing frustration of the past. The only problem apparently was corrected speedily.

That one inessential "six minute hold" in the final minutes of today's countdown. This was evidently due to either some minor defect in the rocket which had to be fixed, or trouble in the maze of electronic tracking and telemetering equipment which it rose.

The signal picked up by receivers in New York carried a high pulsing tone which was heard for the length of time a satellite would be expected to remain in range if it followed its prescribed course.

With care, the teen-ager can stretch her hosiery budget and thus leave room for small luxuries. She must have anklets, half socks and nylons for different occasions and she should treat them kindly. Here, she washes her best nylons (left) in a plastic juice shaker half full of lukewarm soap suds. She rinses them in the same container. For very sheer nylons, she uses (center) a mesh hosiery bag, swishes them through soap suds. She holds the bag under running lukewarm water to rinse them, drops them onto a terry towel for blotting. She pulls socks gently lengthwise (right) before hanging them by toes to dry. A travel-type clothesline with spring clips is ideal for drying socks.

The sheath with bloused back makes a perfect profile for spring. This one, in estron acetate and rayon, has double standaway collar of crisp white organdie. — By GAIL DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor.

Sweep Husband Out in Spring Cleanup

Dear Dorothy Dix: Fifteen years ago I was left a widow with a six year old son, and a lovely home. I remained a widow for five years, then met a man who was very good to my child and I married him. His one fault was that he drank too much, but I put up with it and was very tolerant with him, thinking perhaps when he got older he would slow down on the drinking. Now he's 43, still drinks, and I have a worse problem. He's running around with another woman and rarely comes home on a weekend. He wants me to sell my home and give him half of everything. Would you please advise what to do in a situation like mine? EDDA V.

Dear Edda: You've worn patience down to the last point where it vanishes as a virtue and emerges as a case of placid submission to a no-good. What you do from here on is a matter for you and the law to decide. I'd advise a good spring housecleaning, beginning with your faithless drunkard. Whether or not he's entitled to part of your house depends on the property laws of your state. Consult an attorney regarding the home ownership rights and your obligations, if any, to your husband. If you're going to do anything about him, do it now.

Dear Dorothy Dix: The girls in my high school seriously have been having parties, and now it's my turn to have one. Mother doesn't like the idea, she claims it's too much work for her. I'm more than willing to do my share. I just need showing. ALMA

Dear Alma: Have a very simple party that you can run entirely on your own. Set a large (9½x4) self addressed envelope, stamped with six cents worth of stamps to me and I'll send you a booklet, "Entertaining Made Easy." I'm sure your sorority sisters will enjoy the simple, easy gathering you manage from these practical ideas.

Turkish newspapers normally carry their headlines in read ink.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Three years ago I married Bert. Four months before our baby was born, the marriage wasn't successful, and we separated. I moved to another town where I met Max, a man several years older than I. We fell in love, and I decided to start divorce proceedings. When I notified Bert of my intentions, he said if I went through with the divorce, he'd tell Max some of the things I hadn't been brave enough to tell myself. I'm frantic with worry. What can I do?

LORENE: Could Bert's reluctance to agree to the divorce indicate that he's willing to try for a reconciliation? If so, grab it. If you have to worry about the kids, Bert's your past, a second marriage is not for you. You and Bert should have learned enough in three years to do better next time.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Palmer is a nice guy and I like him. But whenever he has a date with me, who tags along? His good old army buddy, Roger, Roger is a nice guy too, and could get his own dates. I've suggested double dating, but he's very cool to the idea. SUSIE

Dear Susie: Since Palmer does

Russia Elects Members of Parliament

MOSCOW (UP)—The Russians elected 1,378 members of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) Sunday in nationwide balloting in which virtually every voter went to the polls.

The outcome of the elections could be safely declared even before the polling stations opened since there was only a single slate of Communists. But official figures are expected later to show as many as 99.9 per cent of the voters turned out.

American observers toured polling stations and officials showed them some disapproving ballots to prove that the voting was "not unanimous," Moscow Radio reported.

The broadcast said the Americans saw clerks opening the ballot boxes and counting the votes and that "several ballot papers which had the names of the candidate struck out, meaning that the electors had voted against, were shown."

The American observers were Richard Scardon of the Governmental Affairs Institute, Hedy W. Donovan, managing editor of Fortune magazine and Cyril E. Black, professor of history at Princeton University.

News Briefs

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—An Ouachita Baptist College student, Ho was elected to the post at the association convention which ended here this weekend. Jerry McMullen of Benton, an Arkansas Tech student, was named vice-president; Brock Watson of Tuckerman High School second-vice-president; Lavonne Thompson of Lansing, Ohio, a Hardin College student, was named secretary, and De Anne DuVall of Bauxite, was elected treasurer.

The new officers take over July 1 after a summer workshop June 12.

NEW YORK (UP)—The lowest temperature reported in the nation this morning was 9 degrees below zero at Laramie, Wyo. The highest reported Sunday was 81 at Wink, Tex.

MELBOURNE, Fla. (UP)—An Eastern Air Lines passenger plane burst into flames when the wheel buckled on a landing here today, but all 10 persons aboard got out safely.

A company spokesman said to Miami the two-engine Martin 404, on a local run between Jacksonville and Miami, hit a mound of dirt or gravel at the end of the runway just as the wheels touched the ground. The impact caused one of the wheels to buckle.

The plane, sliding on the concrete runway on its belly, built up enough friction heat to set fire to

Parliament is Dissolved in Italy

ROME (UP)—President Giovanni Gronchi dissolved parliament today and cleared the way for important general elections within the next two to three months.

The elections, probably May 25, are expected to be the most turbulent since the 1948 test of strength in which the Christian Democratic Party beat the powerful Communists.

Staunchly pro-Western Christian Democratic governments have ruled Italy ever since. But the Christian Democrats by themselves have had no majority in either the Chamber of Deputies or the Senate, and their party coalition with other centrist groups broke down 10 months ago.

Death Rate on Increase in America

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U.S. Public Health Service reported today the death rate in the United States climbed again in 1957 for the third straight year.

Dr. Robert J. Anderson, chief of the agency's communicable disease center, said there were 50,000 more deaths from all causes last year including an extra 15,000 from influenza and pneumonia.

Last year's estimated death rate was 105.2 persons out of every 100,000—35 more per 100,000 than in 1954.

Chief cause of death was heart disease which accounted for 510 persons out of every 100,000. In 1956 this average was 501.5 persons per 100,000 and 484.6 in 1951.

The agency sent its report on death rates to a House Appropriations subcommittee which published it today.

The survey was based on 10 per cent of all death certificates in 113 major American cities and towns.

Tuberculosis was the one major disease that took fewer lives in 1957 than in 1954. It claimed 7.8 persons per 100,000 in 1957 compared with 8.4 persons the year before.

Auto accidents also took a lower toll in 1957 than in 1956. There were 22.1 deaths per 100,000 persons in auto accidents last year compared with 23.7 in 1956.

But cancer deaths mounted in 1957, taking a toll of 150.2 out of every 100,000 persons compared with 147.0 in 1956.

Safecracker Picks Odd Spot

HOT SPRINGS (UP)—A safecracker picked an odd spot to ply his trade Sunday night.

Police reported they picked up the man in the office of an automobile dealer's showroom after he was spotted through the room's plate glass windows.

The authorities identified the man as J. P. Brown, about 35. They said he opened the door to the showroom when patrolmen beamed their spotlights on him and gave up without any trouble.

Brown was equipped with a "fine set of safecracking tools," the police said. He was knocking off the dial to the office safe when police arrived, they said.

White Rather Than Green Greet Irish

By UNITED PRESS

White rather than green was the prevailing color across much of the nation this St. Patrick's Day with fresh snows in the West and the Northeast digging out of a weekend near blizzard.

One to two inches of new snow fell on Kansas during the night, and flurries extended eastward across southern Missouri and into the Ohio Valley.

Snow and snow flurries also continued over much of the Rockies and across the lower Great Lakes and into New England and the Appalachian Mountains as far south as West Virginia.

New England, meanwhile, was slowly recovering from a late winter storm that hit some sections with up to two feet of snow. High winds piled the snow into towering drifts.

The New England storm was blamed for the deaths of at least eight persons. The storm also knocked out power and telephone lines and choked transportation.

There also was little sunshine today to warm the hearts of Irish celebrants. The only major area of fair skies was along the Atlantic coastal plains.

Elsewhere, the succession of storm centers, sweeping out of the southwest brought showers from the southern Rockies to Texas, a hazardous coating of freezing rain in western and central Oklahoma and snow to the north.

In the southwest — showers prevailed through the night from southern California to the Rockies, changing to snow in central Nevada where Austin, Nev., reported a two-inch snow blanket.

Increasing shower activity occurred in the Pacific Northwest. Although spring officially is less than a week away, frigid air continued to move across the Indiana border dropping readings to only 5 above zero at Casper, Wyo., and near zero in north central Montana. A warming trend overspread the Southeast, but there was little change in temperature elsewhere.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Top U.S. scientists today forecast "major breakthroughs" in the near future that may lead to cures for cancer.

The forecasts were made by Dr. John R. Heller, director of the National Cancer Institute, and Dr. Leroy E. Burney, U.S. surgeon general and head of the Public Health Service.

They testified before a House subcommittee showing "cancer deaths increased during 1957 from a rate of 147.9 per 100,000 persons in the population in 1936 to 150.9 per 100,000."

"So the stage is set and the time seems ripe that some major breakthroughs will occur in this area of cancer research," Heller said.

He cautioned, however, that the ultimate cure of cancer would not be found overnight. This was underscored by other Public Health Service testimony before the same subcommittee showing "cancer deaths increased during 1957 from a rate of 147.9 per 100,000 persons in the population in 1936 to 150.9 per 100,000."

Heller said current research projects, if successful, might make it possible "to immunize man against that disease."

Star Puts on 'African Lion' for Grade Youngsters

THIS WAS THE CROWN at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in the Sanger theater when Hope Star presented the first of a series of Walt Disney wildlife documentaries to the younger grade school students of Hope. The opening picture was "African Lion," with "Disneyland" as the second feature.

With the co-operation of Manager Henry W. Seamans, theater manager, and Jack Braunagel, head of Hope Enterprises, Inc., theater owner, The Star expects to show all the famous Disney wildlife films to local grade schoolers in a series of free performances. The second show will probably be held just before the end of this school year.

Saturday's crowd filled the theater — despite the gaps turned up by the camera's steadfast eye. You know how kids are, about a fourth of them were perpetually missing from the auditorium, trooping back and forth on endless excursions to the popcorn, candy and ice-cream bar.

Just for the record, The Star paid for the film and theater facilities — but the management kept the refreshment bar.

Truman Defends Hiroshima Blast

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UP) — Former President Truman told the people of Hiroshima Friday that the World War II atom destruction of their city saved thousands of lives and was "urgent and necessary for the prospective welfare of both Japan and the Allies."

Truman, in reply to a protest from the Hiroshima City Council, also refused to retract a statement he made on a television program — that nuclear warfare should be used whenever necessary.

Truman revealed receipt of the Hiroshima resolution, adopted Feb. 13 by the City Council, protesting the above statement and another remark that he felt "no compunction" after ordering the atomic bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The resolution told the former President if that is true, "it is a gross defilement committed on the people of Hiroshima and their fallen victims."

U.S. Theater Is Panned by Mr. Saroyan

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Playwright William Saroyan wrote a rather remarkable article in a recent issue of a magazine called Playbill in which he blew a beautiful tizzy-berry at the American theater.

I recalled the article with some pleasure Sunday when NBC-TV's "Wide Wide World" spent 90 minutes in a syrupy genuflection to the theater. It was dull and flabby on the tellin, but I didn't mind that too much because most "Wide Wide World" shows are.

What I did object to was the one-sided view of the theater and in particular, one of the major premises of the show: that Broadway theater is worth saving and moreover, that the rest of the country should lose sleep over the theater business.

Devils Dutifully Blamed

All sorts of show people were trotted out — Helen Hayes, Melvyn Douglas, Peter Ustinov, designers, producers and a lone writer — and almost all dutifully blamed familiar devils for the saggy state of their business: the public for not supporting more mediocre plays, the government for not giving the theater business a hand-out, high costs of production.

There was also much talk about "art," which to paraphrase Dr. Johnson, is the first refuge of the scoundrel.

But, of course, no one really touched upon the prime reason for the theater's wobbly state — the fact that it is actor-centered, as were the big Hollywood studios and as is TV theater.

Inevitably, a theater, movie or TV business that is actor-oriented turns into an unhealthy center of personalities rather than a healthy medium of ideas. When actors become more important than writers, a theater strangles itself.

"I can take it or leave it," said Saroyan skeptically of the Broadway theater and he singled out the "collective bad taste" of such hits as "Auntie Mame," "Bells Are Ringing," "Fair Game," "Lil' Abner" and others.

I would suggest that a little healthy skepticism might have been in order, too, on "Wide Wide World."

Cult of Personality

Strangely enough, the cult of personality was also touched upon in a CBS-TV show that over-lapped "Wide Wide World." It was called "The Great Challenge" and featured a panel of scientists who discussed their place in society.

Somewhere along the line the terms "egghead" and "longhair" came up and one observer made a pompous speech in which he said we shouldn't poke fun at eggheads or longhairs, that more respect was due them.

This, of course, is a form of egghead nonsense as was rightly pointed out by one of the better-balanced members of the panel. There's no reason why we shouldn't needle scientists and for that matter, actors, plumbers, dishwashers, arc-welders, bankers, clerks, housewives, and TV critics. Especially, TV critics.

The trouble with TV is that it floats in an atmosphere of thick mush and there isn't enough fun-poking — particularly on serious shows like "Wide Wide World" and "The Great Challenge."

The Channel 52m: NBC-TV's "Sally" will be replaced April 6 by a series called "No Warning." It's just a new name for the old NBC-TV series, "Panic." Toby Reed has almost sewed up the emcee job on CBS-TV's "Top Dollar" which bows in March 23. The show was titled "Lucky Dollars" but was re-titled because its cigaret sponsor didn't like the word "Lucky."

Kim Hunter came out of last Thursday's CBS-TV "Climax" show, "So Deadly My Love" with five arm bruises, four black-and-blue marks on her legs and seven scratches. It was Miss Hunter who had her jaw dislocated on a recent "Playhouse 90" show by costar Richard Kiley.

Jill Corey of NBC-TV's "Your Hit Parade" bought her first mink coat, Hans Conrad reports for work next month as the heavy in a new TV series, "Target," which will be filmed in Hollywood.

When did you learn about the money and bankbook? Lampkin asked, his slow voice reminding me of a funeral—

"Late last night, Mrs. Owens phoned here yesterday that she wanted to see me. She wanted me to check this morning and see if it was evidence or not. Four grand isn't carfare."

"And too much to pay for private work."

"Yes, sir. Seems Owens was using a phony name, according to Wren, to avoid paying tax. I figure it might be a motive for Owens' death, although it seems pretty far-fetched."

"Seems like both Owens and Wales had something going for themselves."

"That's what I think, Captain."

"Nice of you to do this on your own time. Wintino I'll send the dope down to Central Bureau. This Wren in the phone book?"

"Yes, sir. Edwin Wren & Company, they make electrical gadgets. I'd like to work with Central on this, or at least talk over my theory with them. I wasn't going to let the glory bounds downtown get the credit on this if anything broke."

"This theory of yours, does it require immediate action?"

"I don't think so. You understand, Captain. I'm not sure of anything just a strong hunch that may blow up."

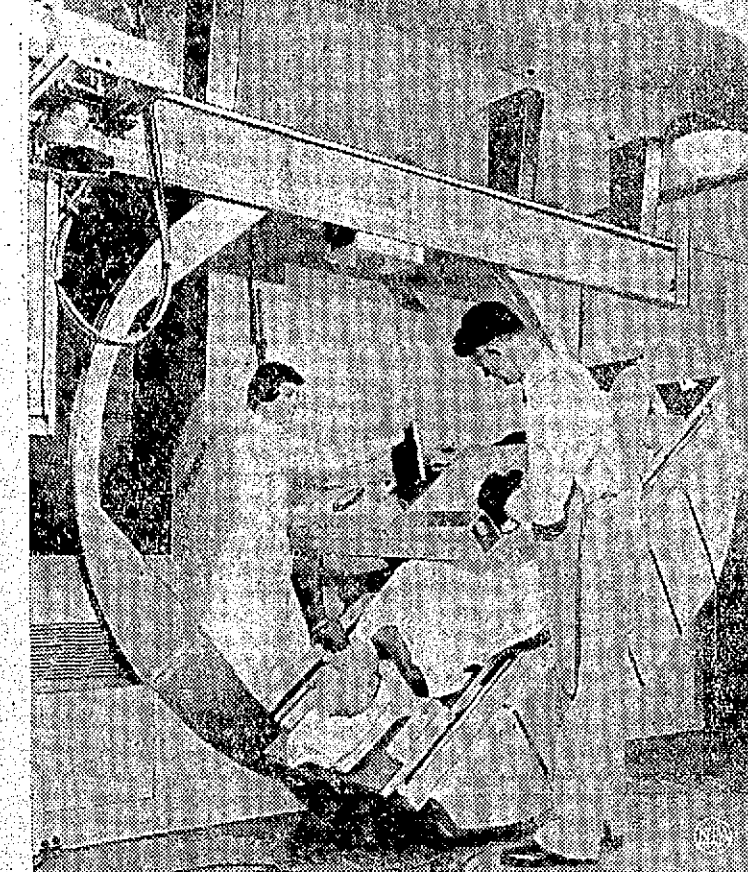

"They haven't even got a weak hunch working on the Wales killing, so might be worth looking into yours."

JUVENILE DEMOCRACY—Faced with a major problem were seven Hungarian refugee youngsters when they began attending school in Santa Rosa, Calif. They couldn't speak English.

ROCK-A-BYE PATIENT—It's out of the nursery and into the hospital for the "rock-a-bye." At least that's true for some stomach ulcer patients who will receive a gentle rocking on this X-ray examination table designed by General Electric.

For some examinations of this disorder the patient is rolled and tilted in a variety of positions. This allows the radiologist to see the barium, swallowed by the patient, as it flows from one part of the stomach to the other. Dr. Richard Schatzki, radiologist of Brookline, Mass., writing in Your Radiologist magazine, says, "gentle rocking of the patient will bring the proper amount of coiling over the area desired and leave the ulcer filled with barium."

HOLLYWOOD (P) — Patrick Patterson, 66, a news dealer, celebrated St. Patrick's Day today by giving away a green trading stamp with every paper sold.

MORE THAN A SHOWER

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UP) — There's no doubt Southern California has been having unusually heavy rains. Mrs. Audrey Zimmerman dropped her wallet in the street. Before she could pick it up, the wallet and $355 went swirling down a drain.

Farm Worker Shoots Three to Death

BUTLER, Pa. (UP)—A mentally retarded dairy worker, ordered off the farm that had been his home since he was eight, shot and killed another farm hand and the couple that employed them, and then turned a rifle on himself.

State Police Capt. Eugene L. Fontaine said there were not witnesses to the slayings Sunday, but "all the evidence" indicated Donnie McCamey, 21, stalked his victims with a shotgun before taking his own life with a .22 caliber rifle.

McCamey's victims were Dale Graff, 38, and his wife, Margie, 35, operators of a dairy farm about 30 miles north of Pittsburgh, and George Reed, a 77-year-old farm worker.

McCamey, Fontaine said, had been living with the childless Gatts for 13 years as a juvenile court ward. He was a "young man of questionable mental capacity and somewhat retarded," the captain said.

"The men didn't have a chance," Fontaine said. "From their wounds they apparently were killed by surprise."

The police officer said McCamey found Reed first. The two men had fought last week and Graff had told McCamey to leave the farm.

Reed's body was found in a corner. Graff's body was in the barn.

Mrs. Graff, Fontaine speculated, probably heard the shooting and rushed outside to see what had happened. When she saw McCamey, she ran back into the house and locked the door.

The killer broke a window and followed her. He fired twice but missed, Fontaine said. She was trapped in a bedroom.

Mrs. Graff died on a bed of shotgun wounds.

The captain said McCamey then returned to the barn where Graff lay and fired the single .22 caliber rifle shell that ended his own life.

3-Day River Meet Starts

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The Arkansas-White-Red River Basins Teracycy Committee will begin a three-day meeting here Tuesday. The committee will especially study conditions of Grand Prairie region in its Arkansas visit. Gov. Orval E. Faubus is to talk to the group Thursday.

The committee was created by Congress in 1950 to correlate planning along the three rivers. Members of the committee represent the Federal Power Commission and the departments of the Army, Agriculture, Commerce, Labor, Rural Health, Education and Welfare.
